Sports Performance

A variety of professional roles exist in elite sport. A sports science degree, often with a relevant Masters degree and experience are required to work at an elite level. Sport psychology, nutrition, sports physiologists, biomechanics and performance analysts all support elite athletes.

Teaching, Coaching and Refereeing

In schools, the community and at elite level, sports needs teachers, coaches and officials. Sport specific qualifications are usually required to coach or referee, national sports bodies offer training courses in coaching and officiating.

ECB

Sports Physiotherapists and Therapists work across many professional and elite sports.

physios in sport

Karen Wray Wray-k@beaconsfieldhigh.bucks.sch.uk